Fresenius-Kabi makes Samarind RMS its first choice!

As the requirements and constraints relating to managing licence submissions become ever greater, the need for suitable regulatory software tools is also increasing. Fresenius-Kabi, a world leader in infusion therapy and clinical nutrition, has selected Samarind RMS (regulatory management software) to support its global regulatory operations.

Fresenius-Kabi has a large portfolio of products and therefore needed a cohesive, robust software application to manage its global licence portfolio. A key factor in their selection was Samarind's customer focused approach and willingness to work as a partner to accommodate Fresenius-Kabi's needs.

Dr. Michel Mikhail, Senior Vice President of Corporate Regulatory Affairs at Fresenius-Kabi commented "With a large portfolio of products and a complex supply chain mechanism to support it, we needed a dynamic and flexible software system to cope with all of the variables. We are very impressed with Samarind's openness to our needs and in particular, their willingness to work in partnership with Fresenius-Kabi's global regulatory and IT teams to ensure our needs are met precisely."

Samarind's Software Director, Miranda Pothiwala comments "We're enormously proud to have been Fresenius-Kabi's first choice to supply their global regulatory tracking system. Samarind RMS will support users in over one hundred countries from a single server installation, which demonstrates Samarind RMS's credentials as a genuine world-class software product."

"This latest success gives our whole team great confidence to push Samarind further ahead in producing world-class regulatory affairs software and we look forward to building a long lasting and successful partnership with Fresenius-Kabi."
