Fukuma Advogados e Consultores

Jurídicos is an attorney's office specializing on Regulatory Law for the Health Sector (National Health Surveillance Agency – ANVISA and Department of Agriculture), Legal Metrology, Consumer Rights and Biotechnology. Thus, the office gathers professionals specializing on their work areas, forming a solid team to provide preventive and contentious assistance and consultancy.

The integrated work, involving the several aspects of the regulatory scope, allows for a wide view of legal issues involved, providing the customer with the safety needed for decision-making. The office also counts on technical consultants with background on similar areas for issues which eventually overcome the limits of the strictly legal actuation. Contact us for more information.
